

A group of members went to the paint class at Palette and Pub in Green Bay to try their hand at rosemaling.

Those who attended have a newfound appreciation for rosemaling artists; it takes a steady hand and more than just one session to get the technique just right!

Carol D.'s painting featured the traditional many shades of blue typically found in rosemaling.

Norwegian Movie to Premiere at Birkie Ski Race in Hayward

The North American premiere of the Norwegian feature film “The Last King” will take place during the American Birkebeiner ski race this month at Hayward.

Haakon Haakonsson, the illegitimate baby son of a Norwegian king, was guarded in secrecy. Half the kingdom was out to kill the boy, and two brave Birkebeiner warriors, so called because of their birch bark leggings, vowed to protect him with their lives by skiing the infant prince f the Norwegian mountains to safety. “The Last King” is the story of the escape that forever changed the history of Norway.
